DYSPEPSY,

A S. SHOWN by the statements of the Board of Health of New York, cause the death of 76 persons out of 611 deaths, in one week, and 131 deaths by consumption induced by Dyspepsy. As it is a well attested fact that Dyspepsy is the origin of the sufferings of a large portion of those who die of consumption, it becomes the duty of every one to use such precautions against, and remedy for Dyspepsy, as science and experience have placed before them, and which have proved to be efficacious; of this character is "Dr. Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir." in corroboration of which, read the following testimonials:

Testimony of Mr. Edward H. Rowley, of the firm of Rowley, Ashburner & Co., 14 North Wharves, in proof of the efficacy of Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir.

Elixir.

Philadelphia, October 29, 1849.

Dr. James Williams—Hear Sir: I take pleasure in recommending your Auti-Dyspeptic Elixir, for the cure of Dyspepsy. I have taken it myself for the disease, and have been entirely cured.

Yours, respectfully, EDWARD H. ROWLEY.

Communication to John R. Penrose, Esq., from Mr.
Franklin Eyre, Kensington.
It is with great gratification that I testify to the efficacy of "Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir," which you so strongly recommended to me, and for which I heartily thank you; it has completely restored my health, which I cheerfully publicly acknowledge, with the he pe that others may be similarly benefited.
Truly yours, FRANKLIN EYRE.
KENSINGTON, Sept. 12, 1850.

OCTOBER 10, 1850.

Dr. James Williams—Dear Sir: Having suffered for a long time from Dyspepsy so severely that I was completely prostrated, and having tried every means for relief without success, I was advised to use your "Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir." It affords me much pleasure to inform you that I am entirely cured by its use and I cordially recommend it to all persons suffering under Dyspepsy. Very, respectfully, &c.. GEORGE WOODRUFF.

Testimony of Mr. Abner Elmes, Market street, above Sixth, corroborative of the efficacy of Williams' Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir:
Dr. James Williams—Dear Sir: It gives me great Dr. James Williams—Dear Sir: It gives me great pleasure to know that you are again preparing your medicine for the cure of Dyspeps, for many of my acquaintances have repeatedly asked me where it could be procured, knowing that I had been cured by it. As I think that a public acknowledgment of the great benefit I have received from the use of your medicine is not only due to you, but may be useful to others, I now make it. For several years I suffered from Dyspeps, which increased to such an extent that me health and constitution were rapidly sinking under it. I was compelled to restrict myself to the most simple food, and even that I could not digest; I felt a less of strength, disinclination to exercise, and (as you have it in your advertisement) a general feeling of depression and indescribable weariness. In the year 1838, hearing from others high recommendation of your Anti-Dyspeptic Elixir, I procured and used it with the most happy effect; under its influence, languar and weariness gradually passed away, and my appetite returned, which I could gratify with impunity. Ten years have now elapsed, and my confidence in the curative powers of your medicine has

By Inhalation, they vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integament. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind, to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, set I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends, through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all, and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public. I would respectfully announce, in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each individual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers, &c., &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or the Canadas. FARM FOR SALE.

MY wife's health absolutely demanding a change of residence, I will sell the house and grounds which I now occupy, six miles from Frankfort, Ky., on the Lexington and Frankfort Railroad. Improvements: a house, a benatiful cottage, containing eight rooms and pantry, a kitchen and servants' room separate; a cistern at the kitchen door; ice-house; stables and cornserib. A spring of never-failing water some ten or fifteen feet below, and walled up to stone two feet above the surface of the earth, with some steps to the water. The land (twenty acres,) in point of fertility, is inferior to none in the State. An Orchard of young apple trees ready for fruiting next year; pear, cherry, and pluss trees of the best varieties, berries, &c., &c. In leaving the above property, I leave a medical practice than which there is no one superior in any country place in the State, or in any State. A respectable physician would find here all his fancy ever painted of professional work, over a most heautiful country, in one of the best portions of the Blue-grass region. But in this we fear we may be mistaken.

We dissent from Judge Douglas upon the following position taken by him in his bred Horses, &c. Freeport speech:

"The next question Mr. Lincoln propounded to me is, "Can the people of a Territory exclude slavery from their limits by any fair means be fore it comes into the Union as a State! answer emphatically, as Mr. Lincoln has heard me answer a hundred times, on every stump in Illinois, that in my opinion the people of a Terri tory can by lawful means exclude slavery before it comes in as a State. * * * ter what may be the decision of the Suprem Court on that abstract question, still the right of the people to make it a slave Territory or Territory is perfect and complete under the Ne-braska bill. * * In this connexion I will * * * In this connexion I will notice the charge that he ha-renewed against me about the Chase amendment. * * Now the Nebraska bill provided that the legislative power a. d authority of the said Territory should extend to all rightful subjects of legislation consistent with the organic law and the constitution of the United States. It did not make any exception of slavery, but gave all the power that it was possible for Congress to give, without violating the constitution, to the territorial leg islature, with no exception on the subject of sla yery at all. Hence that bill, in and by itself, gave to the people of the Territory the full power and the full authority over the subject of slavery, negative and affirmative, to introduce or exclude, so far as the constitution of the United State would permit. What more could Mr. Chase give by his amendment? * * * * His amendment was to this effect, that the legis. lature should have the power to exclude slavery.

We cannot reconcile the position here taken by Judge Douglas with the Democratic platform, nor with the following extract from the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred of property of the master in a slave, and makes distinction between that description of property and other property owned by a citizen, no tribunal, acting under the authority of the United States, whether legislative, executive, or judicial, has a right to draw such a distinction, or deny to it the the benefit of the provisions and guarantees which have been provided for the prolection of private property against the encroachments of the government."

"If Congress itself cannot do this -- if it is bewond the powers conferred on the federal governviolate the provisions of the constitution. "And if the constitution recognizes the right to be paid for anæsthesia?

Mr. Douglas talks very much about his principles, as if he would draw a marked distinction between them and the principles of the Democratic party. Upon the whole, we are inclined to think it quite uncertain as to what his action would be if he is returned to the Senate. We fear we can scarcely hope for his cordial co-operation with the Administration; and if we are to have his opposition, we confess we do not care to see him there. At the same time, we cannot bring ourselves to prefer that Lincoln should defeat him, although the opposition of Lincoln to the Deminjury than that of such a man as Douglas. Measures and not men is our motto; and if Douglas will not indorse our measures, he is principles, and would sooner see Illinois unrepresented than have such a Senator as he.

Mass Meeting.

At a meeting of the citizens of the counties of Boone and Kenton, held on the 28th day of August, 1858, in the town of Florence in Boone county, Ky., Capt. Jacob Shotts, of Boone, was called to the Chair, and Milton W. Graves, of Kenton, was appointed Secretary.

Whereupon the object of the meeting having been explained, Dr. S. S. Scott, of Boone, offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, to-wit: 1. Resolved, That the recent action of Congress in relation to the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, and the course pursued by a large majority of the members from the Northern States in relation to it, in our opinion, clearly indicate that the Union is in imminent danger of an early dissolution, and the States composing it of civil war.

2. Resolved, That in our humble opinion the best means of preserving the "Union of the States," is a strict and faithful adherence to the letter and spirit of the Constitution; and the surest mode of preserving peace and harmony among the different sections, without which the "Union itself is comparatively valueness, is a ready acknowledgement of the rights of others, and a firm assertion and detense of our own.

3. Resolved, That in our belief those who framed the Constitution of the United States, were the best expounders of its provisions; and the surest guide to a correct interpretation thereof, is to be found in the habits and practices of the people during the earlier administrations of the Gov-When the citizen of Massachusetts ernment. go with his printing press to Virginia or South Carolina, and there advocate the Abolition of Slavery or the continuance of the African Slave trade, without fear of molestation from State authority, or of personal insult, or injury from mob violence; and the Southern planter could, with his slaves, traverse the entire country in any direction he thought proper, without the fear of Abolition, State Legislation, or abduction of his slaves by intermeddling fanatics. All hen believed that our common Constitution secured to the American citizen everywhere the largest liberty of speech and the press, and protected him in the unrestrained enjoyment of wh..tever was recognized as property t, whether an African Slave or an Abolition rinting press, or whether it was held in Maschusetts or Georgia.

4. Resolved, That it is the obvious construct tion, as it is the latter and spirit of the Federal Constitution, that the States composing the Union do hold and should exercise all the powers of government not clearly delegated to the General Government, or reserved to the indi-vioual citizen; and that while we admit that the Government, State or Federal, has the power to appropriate to its use the private property of the citizen, when that use is necessary, for the public good, yet we maintain that no government has the power and say that it shall no longer exist in any particular subject, or to say that he slave of a citizen shall go free, that is one of the rights reserved to the individual citizen.

5. Resolved, That it is the duty of the Federal government to maintain inviolate the person and property of the citizens of the several States from the aggressions of other States, or the citizens thereof, as it is alike its duty to protect foreign powers, and the citizens and subjects establish and maintain the former earnestly and sincerely invoke all peaceful means; yet it must be done come what may, for without it the Federal Constitution, which every good citizen should cherish as the apple of his eye, is in practice a

6. Resolved, That whilst we, as Kentuckians, are willing and do accord to our Northern brethren all the rights as citizens of the United States hich we claim for ourselves, we most frankly and candidly declare that our interest, our feel ings and our sympathies are entirely with the Federal Co stitution; and notwithstanding a few individuals among us may sympathize with the North in its present position of antagonism to the conferees of the Sixteenth District reassembled spread of our peculiar institutions, yea with Abolitionism itself, yet the heart of Kentucky is as wholly Southern as any of her sister Southern States: and should a dissolution of the Union which Heaven forbid) result from agitation of the "rugged issue" of no more Slave States, and ue, she will be found, as she ever has been, standing in the front rank of battle, her camp fires will crown every hill-top, and her valiant sons will fill every valley from the Great Kanawha on the east, to the Father of Waters on the west, and the shores of the beautiful Ohio will present one long line of bristling steel as an imassable barrier to an invading enemy.

7. Resolved, That in our opinion the tution of the United States contains a pledge of the power of the Federal Government to secure to every American citizen the right to make his home where he may think proper; within the borders of that Union; and to protect him in the peaceful possession and enjoyment of any species ter Democrats than those of Trimble. I know of property, that is and was recognized as such them personally, and know they are of the right within the United States at the time of the adop ion of the Constitution, and that no Legislative body has the power, without infringing upon that Constitution, to disturb these rights and use of property in any manner whatever.

nity is attached to an act of Congress because it is denominated a "Compromise," than to any other nstitutional act of Congressional Legislation, much less when such compromise act is unconstibased on the Constitution, reason, truth, and juspatriots, whilst those that are iniquitous, unjust, and unconstitutional, should share the fate of all similar enactments. The only compror der which we are willing to live, and which we will always acquiesce and abide by, are to be found in the Constitution itself, and none others and the money is in his pocket, his corn, wheat, ding. The Congressional Compromi es of the last forty years have been accomplished by unwarrantable concessions of Constitutional rights on the part of the South, in which the Co tion has been grossly violated, and sectional domination has triumphed over truth and justice. We deprecate the spirit which laments the repeal of that odious and unjust, as well as unconstitu-tional act, called the "Missouri Compromise."

9. Resolved, That we fully and cheerfully ap prove of and indorse the disinterested and impartial course of our patriotic Chief Magistre te, in the announcement of his views touching the ad ion of Kansas into the Union under the compton Constitution," and that he is entitled to nationality of his sentiments on that subject, and for his exact justice to every section.

10. Resolved, That in our view justice and numanity require that this government, to the extent of its rightful power in the premises, should "In the first place I never have attempted to tent of its rightful power in the premises, sh e tablish a protectorate over the Republic of Mexco, and by its influence and good example quell the discord and quiet the disturbances which are now distracting and depopulating that unhappy country; and that the resolution of inquiry on that subject offered by Senator Houston in the United States Senate at its last session, deserved a more serious consideration at the hands of that had a wife."

Dr. Mortimore, by personal treatment, and the use of his remedy, by Physicians and Druggists, has cured probably twenty thousand cases of this painful and paralyzing disease—comprising cases of every seeming form, from those of a recept inflammatory (acute) character, to old chronic cases of ten, twenty, and even thirty years' standing.

This disease is becoming more prevalent every year, and is seldom cured, or even alleviated, by the usual course of treatment. In its active form it often proves fatal, or if not soon arrested, becomes chronic-stiffens the joints, contracts the ligaments, muscles, and tendons, and thus renders the sufferer a cripple for life, or, if ever afterwards cured, even by the use of this remedy, requires longer treatment and greater expense.

This is a vegetable internal remedy which cured the proprietor of it after long suffering, and all the usual remedies known had failed, and is safe to be used in any state of health-even by the most delicate female or child, and its success, in curing rheumatism, is attested by thousands, among whom are eminent physicians, ministers of various denominations, prominent journalists, and individuals of high standing throughout our country, such as should inspire confidence in every rational mind.

This evidence can be had on call at the office; or those at a distance, by addressing the proprietor, will receive, by mail, a circular of evidence. The remedy can be had at $5 per bottle, or five bottles for $20. Persons ordering at a distance can remit at the proprietor's risk by registering letter, and the medicine will be forwarded by express, or as directed, to any place in the United States or Europe. [From the N. Y. Evening Post.] LAST OF A GREAT INSTITUTION.

On the very day on which we were engaged in the celebration of the laying of the Atlantic Telegraph, one of the most famous institutions of the world ended its day. On the first of this month the East India Company ceased to exist, and its vast possessions passed nominally, as well as really, into the hands of the Crown. When a company of traders not only maintains itself in existence for a century, but during that period manages to conquer two hundred millions of people by force of arms, and rule them by sheer weight of prestige, its demise is something over which the world may well pause and ponder. No modern history will ever now be written in which these tea and spice traders will not fill a larger space than any other conqueror or potentate save one, and if, as has been re-

One is astounded, in glancing over the hisby the magnitude of its achievements in its brief and chequered lifetime, than by the multitude of great names which either derived most of their lustre from their connection with it, or laid the foundation for future greatness in its service. In this fact lies half the romance of this romantic story. As that awful in the tragedy, the catastrophe of which we wittes. nessed last year, is played out before us, hetheir glory or in the maturity of their greatness, crowd the stage in every act. The mightiest orators in modern days have defended or assailed it with an eloquence which no other theme could have inspired; and soldiers have in its service outdone Roland at Roncesvalles. There was hardly a great man of that age of great men, "when George the Third was King," who has not done something to illustrate its annals. The first patch of land which might fairly be called "territory," was acquired for it a hundred years ago by the boldest and most brilliant of adven-It was in the service of these grocers and traders that Clive won Plassy. He entered it a friendless boy, and he left it in a blaze of glory. Sir Philip Francis was for many years one of their civilians, and Francis is now proved beyond any reasonable doubt to have been the very Junius who shewed as no man will ever shew again, what terrible facilities for fierce invective the English tongue supplies. It was in their service that Hastings passed the long and brilliant career which supplied materials for the famous trial in which Burke and Sheridan and Fox prosecuted, at which all the wits and beauties of the age looked on, and which Macaulay has described. Every incident of it was grand .-The pro-consul was another Verres, and one, at least, of the managers might have met Cicero, and have felt himself worthy of his It was in their service that Colonel Arthur Wellesly first showed signs of the happy sagacity which in after years won the bloody field of Vittoria, and stood its ground at Waterloo. Sir Charles Napier-"Old Charley"-fought for the Company in his very prime, annexed a whole Kingdom to its Empire—rivaled Clive at Mennee, then fought with his employers, and finally in his old age both won their honors under its banners .-Lord Ellenborough became famous-as famous as any man of his age-as its viceroy. Macaulay has served it, and venerated it .-Thackeray passed years of his youth in its dominions. Havelock fought for it for forty years, and at the last died for it. Mills has written its history as histories are rarely writ-

"Mid smoke and thunder, Shot and steel and scorching flame,"

Two hundred thousand traitors rose upon it, and with a handful of the faithful, it turned and crushed them, and then disappears from the scene, while the applause of the world is still ringing in its ears.

There is one circumstance connected with this company which, probably more than all others, endeared it to the English people The company was essentially a middle class power. Its conquests were the conquests of the bourgeois. Its officers were the sons of traders, of lawyers, and of clergymen. Even the Queen's regiments, when they went to India, assumed a Democratic character. The sprigs of aristocracy did not relish the prospect of fighting in an atmosphere of 120 o, of panting on a bed all day and marching all night, of jungle fever and enlarged spleen. As soon as the turn of their regiment came to serve in India, they exchanged into others, remaining nearer home, and hundreds of poorer and more lowly-born aspirants, greedy of high pay, prize-money and glory, marched eagerly into their places. Indian victories and Indian calamities therefore made themselves felt in raglish homes, in a way no other triumphs or reverses ever did. The "upper classes" revenged themselves by sneering at the Company, and consigning its officers to a position of inferiority; but they did not sneer when it came to hard fighting, and "Old Indians" were found to be the only men who thoroughly understood their work.

The successful result of the siege of Silistria, which gave the allies time to organize, and probably saved them in the last war from a disastrous action near Varna and a rapid advance of the enemy on Constantinople, was the work of two officers of the Company's troops; the artillery which did most to stem the hostile tide at Inkermann, was worked by a man who had learnt his trade on the banks of the Sutlej; and Williams was almost enabled to save Kars by the co-operation of a staff which belonged to the Indian service.

As a civil ruler, the Company had its faults, of course, and their name was legion. But its government of its distant possessions may well compare with that of the ministry at home of theirs. During the very same period that the former has taken to conquer Hindostan, the latter has lost the United States, and had to suppress an insurrection in Canada. Its main difficulty, and, in fact, its main defect, in dealing with the native princes and its own subjects, were that neither they nor it ever forgot its origin. It was still a trader in language and manner, though a large empire acknowledged its rule. In India where form has so much influence, these base antecedents were a serious misfortune. Down to the very day on which the late mutiny broke out, the English Captain of the Guard in the palace of the Great Mogul, when summoned to his Majesty's presence, was never allowed to cross the threshold without marching over the court-yard without canopy or this sort was worth an army to the old dynasty, but it was one which a Queen's officer would not have consented to offer, and which no royal conqueror would have allowed. Now that the whole Territory has passed into the hands of the Crown, the shadow as well as the substance of power will pass into the hands of the conquering race, and the result will in all probability be the increased stability of their power, and, we would fairly believe, a deeper sense of responsibility.

[From the New York Herald, Sept. 6.] Forney and the President --- The Grumb-

lings of a Discharged Cook. It is a well known fact in social philosophy that discharged domestics rarely speak well of the establishments from which they have been turned off. They always have some fault to find with their quondam employer. Sometimes the fault is that he is not religious, or that he is not fashionable, or that he does not see company enough, or that the wages marked, greatness lies mainly in the contrast are low and the service hard, or that the butchbetween the smallness of means and grandeur er's bills are kept down to the lowest possiof results, there has never been a conqueror ble figure of economy—say seven dollars a half so deserving of renown. ling. It is a feature in the every-day comedy tory of this marvellous corporation, much less of "high life below stairs." And, therefore we were by no means surprised to see that the cook and bottle-washer of Pierce's kitchen cabinet, and who subsequently held the same position for a short time in Mr. Buchanan's kitchen in the White House, should have shown himself, the other day, at Tarrytown, in the colors that belong to discharged domes-

No one can read the catalogue of comroes and statesmen, either in the first flush of plaints made by unfortunate Forney in his speech near Sleepy Hollow, without being struck by the identity which it bore to the grumblings of the plush-breeched Jeemses and Jenkinses who receive their month's wages in advance, with permission to find some other field for their talents. Forney was an old and confidential dependant on the Sage of Wheatland. He says himself that from his very boyhood up, he had revered the good old man, and been ever on the alert to lend him any little humble piece of service that lay in his power to perform; and he admits that this fidelity and sleepless attention turers, in a series of conflicts which even an on his part had awakened in his employer's oriental imagination can hardly do justice to. breast a feeling akin to friendship-that he was, in fact, as is not unusual with esteemed domestics, treated as one of the family. But in Forney's case, as in the case of many spoiled and pampered menials, this kind of treatment made him vain. He grew too big for his breeches. He forgot his position, and instead of obeying his master, he presumed to dictate to him. Then came his fall. Mr. Buchanan knows too well the necessity of having a well managed household to tolerate impertinence on the part of any of his domestics. And so he said to his Man Forney, when he complained of some imagined mistake in the management of his household, "Sir, if it satisfies me I think it may well satisfy you. Sir, if the change is pleasing to me I imagine you have no right to complain of it. But, sir, though I should be sorry to part with a servant in whom I had such confidence, I can only say that if you are dissatisfied, you may go to my steward, get a month's wages in advance, and seek elsewhere a place that may be more in accordance with your new fangled notions.'

That is the way Forney happened to be turned adrift upon the world, and that is the cause of all these grumblings he gave vent to the other day under the orchard trees at Tarrytown, to a handfull of political friends of was called on to save it from the tulwars of Mr. John B. Haskin. Hinc illee lachryme. the Sikhs. Lord Gough and Lord Hardinge What a pity it is that so few people of that class can stand prosperity! The worst thing you can do for one of them is to exalt him or give him any idea of your high appreciation of him. It is almost sure to turn his head with vanity and lead him to make a fool of himself. Forney was in the habit of hearing and obey ing such orders as these: "I will dine in Phil adelphia on Thursday, at one o'clock. Have a steak and onions ready for me." "Have the And then its death has been worthy of its carriage at the door in an hour." "Publish in life. Few sovereigns have ever so grandly finished so grand a career. Nothing has been wanting to make its story the most sublime of the Oriental maxim, "to hear is to obey," everything went well with him. He grew fat dulgent master, and wanted for nothing. But his original constitution was too weakly for such strong diet as he had. He "waxed fat and kicked." Kindness and indulgence produced pride. He fell into the error of thinking himself a great man, and the natural consequence was that Mr. Buchanan was obliged to turn him about his business. That is exactly the position of the past and present relations of Mr. Buchanan and his former chief of

But badinage apart, this speech of Forney's conveys a very good idea of the state of the quarrel between the Administration and bolters. These miserable political wirepullers had the folly to think that because they could manage corrupt primary elections and caucusses, and State and general conventions, they therefore had a right to impose their views of national policy on the man who was raised by the suffrages of the people of the United States to the chief magistracy of the nation. They had the temerity and the presumption to expect that they would be able to make him a tool in their hands. But they were mistaken for once.

* * * He felt the responsibility of his position, and so cut himself adrift from these miserable hucksters of party patronage. And now Douglas, and Haskin, and Forney, and their hangers on, go around the country exposing the confidential affairs of the establishment from which they were turned off, and calling on the people to sympathize with them in their distresses. But the common sense of the country only laughs at them.— They made their own bed, and they must be content to lie in it. As for the administration, it is impregnable to their puny popguns, which are about as ridiculous and contemptible as an armament of Chinese stinkpots to the allied

IF"If every stump in Kansas were a negro, every tree upon her soil a slave driver, and every twig upon the trees a lash to scourge a negro to his daily toil, I would vote for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton constitution." This infamous sentiment was uttered upon the stump, a few days ago, by the Hon. James Hughes, the Indiana member of Congress, who challenged a man for the avowed purpose of avoiding fight .- Louisville Journal.

We doubt whether there is a Democrat in the Union who will refuse to indorse this "infamous Those Democrats who opposed sentiment." Lecompton, did so because they knew there were but few slaves and few slave-owners in Kansas. All of them would have voted for Lecompton, if the slaves in Kansas had been as numerous as the stumps, and the slave owners as numerous as the trees. In what respect is the sentiment infamous? ls it infamous because it recognizes the right of the master to lash the slave that lazily like a stump in the field? We hope that the editor of the Journal, after a while, will consider it infamous to whip free men for trying to vote.

PRIZE FIGHT IN ENGLAND.—The fight between Charles Lynch, an American, and John Sullivan, a young aspirant for fistic honors in the English prize ring, took place on the 17th ult., near Lonumbrella, under the full blaze of the sun, a humiliation to which the pettiest officer of the household was not subjected. Our Hopes.

Those who flatter themselves that we or the mocracy of Hardin, have despaired of ever witnessing a triumph of our principles in this county, are most sadly mistaken. If we can udge correctly, and we think we can, of the feel-ngs of the party at this time, we are satisfied are more determined now than ever to redeem Hardin from the misrule of Know-Nothing-

Two years ago, the majority against us was 850, and it was reduced to 64; in '57 the majority against us in the race for the Legislature was less than a hundred, and this year it is still less—and we are of the opinion that the triumph will come next year, in the race for the Legislature.

The Democracy have fought too long and too hard to surrender at this late hour to the enemy. The Know-Nothings fear the coming contest; for it is to be one fought more fiercely, and more earnestly even, than any of the past political battles we have had.

They will find a difficulty in getting men to face the music. It will cost too much. The victories that have been won over us, have cost nore than the offices that were gained will yield to their possessor, and this fact is too notorious for any of the "week-kneed" brethren to pitch in, as they once did, when the majority of their party was hundreds.

The K. N's in that contest, will be in full partnership with the Black Republicans, just where the Democracy have always charged they would land, and we are anxious to see one of their ora tors stand up before a Kentucky audience and defend the coalition. Hurrah, say we, for the Democracy. We have been beaten in Hardin, but not conquered. We are for carrying the war into Africa.—Elizabeth-

Morphy Victorious-Another Match.

By the last arrival from England, we learn ested company. The score was Morphy 9; Lowen- Ja thal 3; drawn 2. The most renowned masters of the game in England recognize in the American champion the best of all players, past or present. Lowenthal confesses Mr. Morphy's superiority.

The Birmingham chess tournament has resulted (much to the surprise of the English chess world) in Herr Lowenthal's winning the first prizecircumstance that must do much to reconcile him to his loss of the match with Morphy. Mr Staunton, the great player, who so unsparingly criticised both Morphy and Lowenthal in the columns of the Illustrated London News, was beaten handsomely by the last named gentleman, who scored two straight games-thus winning the prize. Some time since, Herr Lowenthal was in the habit of receiving the odds of the pawn and move, from Staunton, but now there seems to be but httle difference between them; if any, they are in Lowenthal's favor. Mr. Morphy's feat of playing eight blindfold games is astonishing all England. Seven of them he won and one he lost. He is now in Paris, where he will play with Monsieur Harr-witz and other continental players. The match between Staunton and Morphy for $5,000 will be played in London, commencing the first week in November. In the meantime the young American has engaged to play a match of twenty-one games with Prof. Anderson, of Preslaw-supposed to be the best player in the world.

-04 No FEAR OF ALARMING THE GERMANS .- The New York Tribune of September 14 is exceedingly anxious that the Republicans and Americans should unite on one candidate in all the Congressional districts of that State. Nearly all have no idea or possibility of information? "districts are in jeopardy," it declares, unless a union is made. It says:

Islands to support an American hostile to slavery extension in one district, if the Americans will support a Republican in the other; and so throughout. Let the party which concedes the Congressmen have the best places on the county As to the fear of alarming or offending the Republicans of European birth, it is sheer gammon. Did not the German Republicans of Missouri support and all but elect Rollins Govcommend it to our friends. The Democratic Party and the Admin- A Mad Steer-Woman Killed --- Heroic Conduct

On Friday afternoon, of last week, as a num end—it having been settled on the broadest principles of popular sovereignty—what differences re-Kentucky Central cars, at the cattle pens, near main in the Democratic party? Any? We know of none of the slightest import. We know of the drove and ran down Banklick street, clearing none upon any question whatever. The general everything before him, and scattering the people policy of Mr. Buchanan's Administration comin every direction. It was evident that he was greatly excited and dangerous, and pedestrian Democratic party of the whole country. His treatment of the search and visitation question protection from his frantic rage. Rushing down Pike street and up Madison to Seventh, he caught a servant girl of Mr. McGlasson's upon his horns, ness by which this triumph was achieved. It is and gored her severely. There were three chilpolicy respecting the most difficult and vexatious dren with her at the time, but happily neither of them were hurt. The girl is now confined to bed with her wounds, but will probably recover.

From Madison the furious animal ran up Seventh street. A servant girl of Mr. John Todd tion was scarcely less a triumph. Regardless of clamor in any quarter, he enforced the law, and elevated the national name by removing The steer passed her hiding-place a few feet, paused for a moment (a moment of intense sus-sense to all who witnessed the occurrence), then turned and rushed upon her. The unfort victim was tossed into the air as lightly as if she were of no more weight than a feather. As she fell to the ground, the infuriated animal made no effort to toss her a second time, but stood goring her with his sharp horns, till bis attention was diverted by the bystanders, in their attempts to drive him from his victim. The girl had a child of Mr. Todd's in her arms at the time, but resothe whole people.

The Democratic party can rally around this lute in the performance of her duty and the protection of her infant charge, she interposed her own body between the child and the horns of the maddened steer, and with the heroism of a martyr she sacrificed her own life to preserve that of the helpless one confided to her care. Such in stances of heroic conduct are not of every day occurrence. Her name was Julia Troy. it be remembered with respect and honor. among the lower walks of life that we find that self-sacrificing affection and rare devotion to duty, which wealth and its pomp and pride tend to weaken or destroy.

The steer, growing more excited from the clamor of those who we e endeavoring to stay his progress, rushed hither and thither through the streets, attacking everybody happening in his way. Several narrowly escaped with their lives. A young lady, whose name we did not learn, was tossed from an embankment on Greenup street, near Ninth, into a pond below, and was rescued therefrom barely in time to save her from drown Others were injured, but none seriously, save the two first mentioned; the latter of whom died from her injuries an Tuesday morning.

The infuriated beast was finally secured in the cattle yards at the Drovers' Inn, where, after a few minutes with other cattle in the yards, he be came comparatively gentle. The next day he was driven through the streets with the rest of the drove; but, although he went along peaceably enough, and exhibited no traces of his fury of the day before, the act is generally considered a very imprudent one.—Covington Journal, 15th.

Letter from the President.

The President and Directors of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, as is well known, invited President Buchanan's attendance in that city during the Fair week. The Republican has been put in possession of the following letter from President Buchanan, in answer to the invitation:

Washington City, Friday, August 25. My DEAR SIR: I feel myself honored by the kind invitation of the Board of Directors of the We St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, to attend their annual Fair on the 6th Sep tember. I should esteem it a very great pleasure, indeed, as well as a high privilege, to be present on this interesting occasion, and to mingle with my fellow-citizens of the West, ever distinguished for their enterprise and their patriotism, on the banks of their own mighty river. It is, therefore, with deep regret that I am obliged to say that the variety and importance of the public business now pressing upon me render it quite impossible for me to be absent from Washington during so long a period as would be required to make a visit to St. Louis. Cherishing the hope that at some future day I may be able to enjoy this privilege, I remain,

Very respectfully, your friend, JAMES BUCHANAN. Hon. J. R. BARRET.

LADY EQUESTRIANS .- The display of female equestrians on Tuesday afternoon at the North Kentucky Fair, was an exciting spectacle, and drew from the immense crowd in attendance rounds of enthusiastic applause.

The gallant judges were sadly puzzled to dedecide to whom should be awarded the palm of periority. After an hour's riding- the running walk, the fox-trot, the rack, the pace, the lope, &c., all being shown to the best advantage—the ladies were called in, and the blue ribbons were tied, in the following order: To Miss Hunt was presented the $40 side-saddle; to Miss Middleton, the $10 saddle; to Miss Howard, the $10 The judgment of the committee, consisting of Col. Roff, of New York, D. Runyon of Lexington, Dr. Moore, of Aberdeen, and Messrs. Herndon, Luttrell, Smoot, Forman, Parry, and Bacon, of Mason, was enthusiastically ratified by thousands of gratified spectators. Maysville Eagle.

F"Has the cable parted?" asks the New York Times, and then adds:

In traversing that wide reach of two thousand miles, how many a profound valley is that slen-der cord suspended across like the land wire between its posts? How many a rocky summit may it rest upon, swinging and wearing in currents and waves, in respect to which, after all assertions and pretended soundings of investigators, we really know nothing? How many submarine casualties may it not be exposed to, of which we must be avowed that a strong probability of acci-dent to the wire does exist—strong enough, innless a union is made. It says:

"Let the Republicans take the initiative in endering the olive branch. Let us offer on the decay to prepare the public mind for the melanchold disappointment which its rupture must, if it occur, bring home to the universal sense.

Gen. Walker and Nicaragua.

A letter from San Jose to the Aspinwall Liberal, says the Pennsylvanian, states that the whole object of the Nicaraguan and Costa Rican Governments in sending Jarez to this country, is to gain time, in order to allow M. Belly to consummate his arrangements with the French Gov-France. The letter says that his arrangement finds favor only with politicians-that the people of Nicaragua are tired of the perpetual anarchy under which they live, and would welcome any change which would bring them deliverance.-The following is the concluding paragraph:

Had Monsieur Belly been the most devoted friend of General Walker, he could not possibly have done him better service in Central Ameri There will certainly be no more opposition inst the filibusters from the United States. The Cabinets are now satisfied. D. B. Allen, the son-in-law of Vanderbilt, and the party which came with him, will leave by the Granada, which is expected here on the 20th; and as the Belly papers were not made public in the States until after their departure, they entered Managua ignorant of what Martinez and others had don and all parties now consider the appeal made by these governments, allied, as a great insult to the States; and many who have heretofore most strenuously opposed Walker, would now be glad to see him back in the country, and believe that the best and most satisfactory as well as speedy way of settling the Central American question will be for the United States to send Walker and his followers back to Punta Arenas, from whence they were taken by Paulding. If the United States would do this, there need not be a single life lost or a battle fought. As for myself, I expect to eat my next Christmas dinner in the capital of Nicaragua with Gen. Walker, the acknowledged head of affairs.

The Washington Union, in noticing Fornev's reported conversations with the President, as reported by him in his Westchester speech, says:

Our purpose, however, was not to censure this statement for the want of honor implied in making it, but to denounce it, as we now do most emphatically, for its unmitigated and total destitu-tion of all honesty and truth. No such conversation took place, nor any conversation at all, between those parties on that subject. Mr. Forney never had the courage to address Mr. chanan in that strain, and he certainly had not the impudence to offer his advice to the man of whose personal character he had been the habitual traducer for months before Lecompton or anti-Lecompton was thought of. The story he tells of the Cabinet meeting, is like the account of his conversation, wholly fabulous. 5000

Bragge-Dear Sir: For more than three years I had been afflicted with inflamed eyes in an aggravated degree, and tried various Physicians, and several nostrums, to no effect; I was induced by Dr Baum to try the Arctic Liniment, and in two months was nearly well. My little daughter was afflicted in the same manner for the same time, and during a pertion of the time was entirely blind in one eye. I applied your valuable Liniment, and her eyes are now perfectly sound. Thus have I, with one two-bit bottle, cured my daughter's eyes and my own, besides earing the Rheumatism in my back. I would not be without your valuable remedy in my house.

Very truly.

NEW & SUPERIOR ILLUSTRATIONS.

Thus improved and perfected, it is believed that no other Universal History can compare with this, for the fullness and accuracy of its statements, the convenience of its arrangements, the clearness, simplicity and dignity of its style, for the consequent interest which it excites, and the valuable instruction which it imparts, or for the durability and neatness of its mechanical execution.

It is believed that this work by Mr. Goodrich, will be very acceptable to the whole reading public. This is the result of years of toil and labor, assisted in his researches by several scholars of known ability, and has been got up at a great expense by the proprietors. No pains have been spared in the execution of the Illustrations and Maps, which are entirely new, prepared by the distinguished author expressly for the work. Indeed, all the other historical writings of Mr. Goodrich sink into insignificance, when compared with this, the result of his riper and matuer years.—It is admitted that One Hundred Lodlars could not purchase the same matter in any other shape; and the publishers confidently expect that, in consideration of the great liteary value of the work, the large sum expended in preparing it for the press, and the exceeding moderate price at which it is offered, that it will be favorably received by every lover of good books.

A ND for sale by all News Dealers in the U. States and Canada. Will contain another new original story, entitled, "THE OCEAN WANDERER; or, ADVENTIRES ON LAND AND SEA, in which the author depicts, in graphic style, the starting seen s and romantic adventures of life as a sailor before the mast. The narrative of the "OCEAN WANDERER" is a bold but truthful picture of the globe, in which are petrayed the chivalry, daring, freaks, follos and superstitions of the sailor; togetner with the tyrannies and brutalities to which he is too often subjected by the officers who command our vessels. Some of these scenes develope a refinement of cruelty and a systematic torture that cannot fail to send a chill of horror through every civilized community! This is the dark side of the picture. "A Life on the Ocean" has its sunshine as well as its storms—its pleasures as well as its the picture. A life on the Ocean massessumshine as well as its storms—its pleasures as well as its pains—and the author has most happily and foreibly presented these various phases of life on the great deep, in the progress of the "OCEAN WANDERER."

The descriptions of the manners and customs of the Natives of the "far-off Isles of the Sen," among when the other present water water of his country.

presented these various phases of life on the great deep, in the progress of the 'Ocean Wanderre.'

The dsscriptions of the manners and customs of the Natives of the "far-off Isles of the Sen," among whom the author passed a portion of his eventful life, are full of interest. He carries the reader thro'the delightful groves where the banana and cocoanut grow—and anon takes him far away into the solitary forests of Tropical fruit, which are only to be found in the Isles of that clime "where summer reigns eternal"—passing in rapid succession before his mental vision a panorama of the most gorgeous picture in the world. Amid this delightful scenery, after all hope of ever gazing on the glorious stripes of his native land, or seeing the friends of his childhood again the author makes a discovery of the most startling character which changes the whole current of his adventurous career. "The Ocean Wandere finds himself at home among the natives."

There is a reckless daring in the life of the sailor which is unaccountable. He pursues his perilous calling with an infatuation which an ounts to idolatry. It is this spirit which carries our commerce to the remote quarters of the globe—which whitens the ocean with the sails of the merchantmen, and unfolds the flags of all maritime nations in every port of the known world. This daring and adventurous trait in the character of the Sailors leads to explorations far into the ley regions of the North, where eternal Winter reigns, or brings to the knowledge of the world the mysteries of the tropics. When preverted, this strange infatuation leads its victim to enlist under the black flag of the Pirate, who lies in wait on the great highway of the ocean for his defenceless prey. The author of the "Ocean Wanderre."

Young man! before you lea'e the comforts of a quiet home on shore for a great deep, read the Adventures of the "Ocean Wanderre."

Fond mother! before you consign your darling boy to the tender mercies of the typants of the sea, read the experiences of the "Ocean Wander hospitable island, to end their days among savages or in a terrible solitude where no human foot had ever trod, and where no human voice was ever heard! The author of the "Ocean Wanderer" vividly brings before his render some of these startling adventures and terrible realities.

Many a good ship, after having been plundered—herew and passengers butchered—has been scuttled and sent to the bottom of the ocean by the Freehooter, whose terrible motto is: "Dead men tell no tales!" In this connection the "Ocean Wanderer with the adventures of the daughter of one of the merchant princes, whose ships were on every sea, which cannot fail to excite the most intense interest. Well may it be said that "mere Fiction pales before the lights and shades of Reality, when we venture out on the bosom of the great deep."

LAWSCHOOL Of The University at Cambridge, Mass.

Hon. Theophila's Parsons, LLD., Dane Prof. Hon. Emory Wasshurn, LLD., University Professor.

The course of instruction embraces the various branches of the Common Law; and of Equity; Admiralty; Commercial; International and Constitutional Law; and the Jurispudence of the United States. The Law Library consists of about 14,000 volumes, and as new works appear they are added, and every effort is made to render it complete.

Instruction is given by oral lectures and expositions, (and by recitations and examinations, in connection with them) of which there are ten every week. Two Moot Courts are also holden in each week, at each of which a cause, previously given out, is argued by four students, and an opinion delivered by the Presiding Instructor. Rooms and other facilities are also provided for the Club Courts; and an Assembly is held weekly for practice in debate, and acquiring a knowledge of parliamentary law and proceedings.

Students may enter the School in any stage of their professional studies or mercantile pursuits, and at the commencement of either term, or in the middle, or other part of a term.

They are at liberty to elect what studies they will pursue, according to their view of their own wants and attairments.

The Academical year, which commences on Thursday, six weeks after the third Wednesday in July, is divided into two terms, of twenty weeks each, with a vacation of six weeks at the end of each term.

During the Winter vacation, the Library is opened, warmed and lighted, for the use of the members of the school.

The exercises of the next term will commence on Monday Neptember 6, 1858.

Applications for admission, or for Catalogues, or any further information, may be made to either of the Professors at Cambridge.

DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq. of Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used your Pectoral myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., MONTEREY, I.A., writes, 3d Jan., 1856:

"I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief; finally tried your Pectoral by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Dostor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

DOCTOR AYEE, LOWELL: L feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your Cherry Pectoral has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill; for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls hurself well.

ORLANDO SHELBY, OF SHELBYLLE.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win un-precedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their pene-trating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disor-dered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men. The Agent below camed is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanae, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints: certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:—

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints. Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from a foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant medicine, Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.
